Compare the two images above and you will see how one is close to the bottom nave bar.

You need to make sure it is responsive for all screens and make all items visible even with the bottom nave bar there.

Also I commented out the top nav bar because it still has to be worked on it is not responsive at all (in the code you will clone it won't be commented out so comment it if need be).

Turkson will take care of the nav bar responsiveness.
